

When Boston's 'Miss Lindy'

Was Feted in England

After Flight Over Atlantic

STEPPING ASHORE AT SOUTHAMPTON
Miss Amelia Earhart, Denison House worker and first girl to fly the Atlantic, is being helped ashore at Southampton by Scott Payne of the Imperial Airways after her flight from Burry Port, Wales, where her transatlantic hop ended.

AT THE END OF THE HOP
This photo of "Miss Lindy" was taken at Burry Port, Wales, a few minutes after the Friendship had landed there from Newfoundland.

POPE USE BLACKACKS IN RIOT AT CONVENTION

delegations of the South who are opposed to the nomination for President of the Governor of New York. Apparently there were no serious injuries.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the permanent convention chairman, started the battle by interjecting in a prepared speech two questions from the Texas of Jefferson. It was when the chairman, after a moment's pause, asked a question about the match took place.

Half a dozen police broke through to quell the riot, which started in the North Carolina section once, but it broke out again a moment later and the North Carolina standard was broken to pieces in the struggle. The police used their blackjacks, but there seemed to be no bloodshed.

Five police finally were swinging blackjacks and clubs in attempts to stop the fight and the state parade was almost broken up. The battle raged in the front aisle just before the speakers' stand.

W. C. Newland, chairman of the North Carolina delegation, led onto the banner during the riot.

A fist fight then started in the Alabama delegation, sitting just behind North Carolina, and the State's leader went down in the rush.

A gang of Alabama delegates, armed with the standard and across the aisle, Tennessee delegates rallied about their standard as the rush started their way.

Tennessee's banner, which was torn in its morning, however, and sent a roar it was swept down the aisle in a rush of South riders.

Meanwhile, North Carolina's banner was torn from its mast.

W. O. Saunders was named as the man who first attempted to pick up the North Carolina standard after quelling the fighting in the North Carolina and Alabama sections.

Ten Senators on Platform Committee at Houston

Houston, June 27 (AP)—Platform battles of the Democratic party count among their number ten senators, a former senator, two one-time cabinet officers and seven newspaper publishers. And this is one of the reasons why some of the delegates are skeptical about the promised sharp party declaration.

Based on the preliminary committee are Pittman of Nevada, chairman; Charles McNary of Arkansas; Tydings of Maryland; Glass of Virginia; Harrison of Mississippi; Walsh of Massachusetts; Wagner of New York; Branton of New Mexico; Edwards of New Jersey and Hiram of South Carolina.

The former cabinet officers are Newton D. Baker, secretary of war and Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration; and in addition there is Brockbridge Long, a former assistant secretary of state, representing the District of Columbia.

The seven publishers include Danforth of Kentucky, the former publisher of the New Orleans Times; Paul A. Jones, Kansas, of the Kansas City Star; E. W. Walker, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Lewis of Illinois, of the Chicago Tribune; and John W. Wray, Alaska, of the Anchorage News.

The former senator among the 55 members of the committee is A. O. Stanley of Kentucky.

Demands Outright Repeal of Prohibition Law
Houston, June 27 (AP)—Demand for a plank for repeal of the 18th amendment today was made at a hearing before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

High Spots Hit by Robinson

FROM the address of permanent Chairman Joe T. Robinson at the Democratic convention in Houston today:

"The Democratic party is not a prohibition party. Neither is it an anti-prohibition party. Democrats have always divided on the question of prohibition."

"Let it be remembered as the Congress is now constituted, and as it will be composed for many years, there appears no likelihood of repeal or nullification of the 18th amendment."

"In this situation, the sensible thing for Democrats to do is to demonstrate their willingness to enter into honorable compromises and to make personal sacrifice."

"In Wilson's time the United States held the leadership of the world on all highways of human progress."

Prohibition No Issue, Says Woman Leader

By ELIZABETH MARRERY,

Women Democratic Committee member.

Written Exclusively for International Women's Service.

Houston, June 27 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith will be elected President, not because of his personal views on prohibition, but because he has two outstanding qualifications—integrity and sincerity.

I cannot understand all this talk about prohibition because that, I am convinced, will not be an issue. It doesn't make any difference whether the President is wet or dry. He has nothing to say about changing the law. The only people who can change or modify the law are members of Congress.

I might say right here that I am a little suspicious of some of the talk that we hear about Congress.

I am inclined to believe that some of the congressmen vote dry and drink wet.

After a careful study of the situation, with an open mind, I have reached the conclusion that it is impossible to enforce prohibition under existing laws. The dry talk gives about as much comfort as I would like someone to give me a constructive policy as to how the law can be enforced.

Until the rank and file do not want intoxicating beverages, the present prohibition law never will be enforced.

Despite talk to the contrary, Gov. Smith will receive a tremendous vote from the women of the country. He is admired by the women of New York state and he will be admired and respected by the women of the country when they really know him.

LOUISIANA LEGISLATORS QUIT JOB; GO TO HOUSTON

Baton Rouge, La., June 27 (AP)—Defying Governor Huey P. Long, 47 members of the Louisiana House of Representatives and most of the senators went to Houston today to the Democratic National Convention instead of remaining in session to attend to important business. Long requested the Legislature to stay in the State and not go on a pleasure trip.

ROBINSON FOR SECOND PLACE, SMITH CHOICE

Houston, Tex., June 27 (AP)—A serious contest between Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination appeared in prospect today in event Governor Al Smith is nominated to head the Democratic ticket.

Reed, however, appeared doubtful to a double defeat, with the Smith organization flouting its support to Robinson for the vice-presidential nomination for the New York executive.

Every known Smith leader has gone about the convention city for the last three days, quietly predicting the ticket would be Smith and Robinson.

Some of Senator Reed's closest friends, meanwhile, were known to be angling to win the vice-presidential place for the Missouri. Reed thus has refused to discuss any second-place honors with Smith.

"A dozen of Reed's generals have been around to our headquarters trying to arrange a trade," said Smith leader. "All overtures have been rejected. Al Smith is nominated now and he will not countermand any trade, anyway, to win the nomination."

Robinson, meanwhile, remained almost reticent, awaiting the call to the Chancellery to become his permanent chairman. From this point on he will be in the center of the picture.

The Smith managers, controlling a clear majority of the convention were reported opposed to Reed chiefly because the Missouri senator has a record of "wet" votes. Reed on the other hand, with Smith, would hurt their cause in dry states.

High humidity, which was recorded at 89 at 7 o'clock as the delegates began sitting for the day's proceedings, made the temperature seem even hotter than it actually was and cooled perspiration. A year ago humidity at the same time was only 65.

NOMINATIONS AT HOUSTON DUE TONIGHT

WALKOVER FOR SMITH IS SEEN AS VOTING HOUR NEARS

Houston, June 27—Called to order at 11:44 (1:44 p. m. Boston time) the third session of the Democratic National Convention got under way quickly with promises of nomination speeches at tonight's session and a walkover for Al Smith on the first ballot for the presidency.

Just before the call to order by Temporary Chairman, Howes came word of Ohio's switch to Smith, assuring him of nomination. Kansas had previous voted its 19 votes to "AT" on the first ballot.

Florida met and adopted a resolution complaining against the nomination of a candidate or the adoption of a platform "under the influence of Tammany Hall."

"The members of the Florida delegation unanimously urge," the resolution read, "the Democratic convention not to draw this overcast upon the loyalty of the great democracy of Florida."

The Ohioans in caucus decided to vote for Allen Pomeroy on the first ballot, but authorized their chairman, Claude Meeker, to shift.

Meeker indicated that if the Ohio vote would not shift the New Yorker over on the first ballot they would be found in the Smith column before announcement of the roll call.

in her special box on the left. Both women chatted with those about them.

ROOSEVELT HAPPY.

Franklin D. Roosevelt bobbed in on his case and again held his court in the center of the New York section. Norman Davis of the Morgan firm, John W. Davis, 1924 nominee, Senator Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island, who married Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, "Cyril" Cummings, the big Marylander from Washington, and George W. Olney, the Tammany leader, were among those about the Smith generation. Roosevelt was smiling and confident. He saw in this convention the successful culmination of eight years of effort. When he stands on the platform, probably tonight, and places his name of the New York governor before the convention, he believes that this time its going to "take."

Forty-four of the 48 Ohioans are listed as pro-Smith.

OKLAHOMA CLAIMS

Prior to today's caucus, both the Reed and Smith factions claimed the Oklahoma delegation. Reed's men, elected control on the fourth ballot when his forces numbered 195 votes as against 214 for Smith. The action of the Ohio delegation came at a time when the pledged first ballot strength of Smith totaled 722 1/2, or just 25 votes short of the two-thirds required for nomination.

Three bands played while the delegates were assembling to hear Senator Joe T. Robinson's speech as permanent chairman.

The invocation, after the call to order, was by the Rev. George O. Jones of the First Unitarian Church of Denver.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was early in her place on the platform to the right of the chairman, and Mr. Al Smith had long since arrived.

Bugs Baer Says: Last Call for Party Pie

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Houston, June 27—The convention opened at noon and lost the Mexican vote.

It opened with a prayer. They should have had a dinner bell. This is the last call for Democratic lunch.

The stalling has started. It looks as if the thing will last until July. They could spend up things by making them mean no, and have stand for yes.

The hall is hotter than flaming whistles. If the convention goes until Monday all the delegates will be bleached.

Every delegate wants to make a speech. Tomorrow, a bad night of defeat, the Alamo had some and the Democrats have two darned many.

Fashion note for the well dressed: It's so hot that the only stuff you can wear are clothes made of cotton bags.

Jimmy Swinnerton bought himself an eight-dollar set of coat and trousers. He describes the material as concertina linen. The pants of concertina linen suit run up your legs and play tunes on the way.

A man named Jones bobbed up as a candidate against Smith. Looks like they are trying to make a telephone book out of the Congressional Record.

Absolutely nothing was accomplished during the first session of the rally that is supposed to make the world clack with democracy.

The keynote speech was delivered under cover of darkness. Looks like the Democrats are going to sneak up on the White House.

Rooms at the Hotel Rice cost 21 cents a day. That's more than I spent in my honeymoon.

Nothing will be said about the dress question. The boys have taken their cue from Kansas City and decided to let well enough alone.

Nothing ever happens in a convention hall except badges and buttons. The argument is over and the place is private room. You always could learn more through a keyhole than you could through a telescope.

Texans' Rebel Yell Makes Even the Welkin Deaf

By ROLAND KREBS, International News Staff Correspondent

Houston, June 27—There's considerable rumormongering and bel-l-ringing going on today in Houston, and it's all the fault of a tall, majestic, beautiful blonde—Miss Melvina Pastmore.

Miss Pastmore, formerly of the Boston and Chicago opera companies and a guest artist in the capitals of Europe, opened yesterday's session by singing "The Star-Spangled Banner," "America" and then "Dixie." That started it. You'd never suspect, as you watched this stunning, dainty creature singing and smiling, that she was kicking up such a row.

A real southerner feels that "Dixie" is a rip if it's not followed by the rebel yell. On Miss Pastmore's last note it came.

Since then you hear "Dixie" wherever there's a crowd. When there's no band and no "Dixie," you hear the rebel yell just the same. The Texans feel that they've done the main thing and now it's time to shake off the straddles and ho Texans.

You can't imagine how versatile the human race is until you've heard an enthusiastic Texan let loose a standard, all-American rebel yell. Three rebel yells and anyone save a Texan is ripe for treatment by a throat specialist.

The plainness do right well by the yell, but it takes a Texas cowboy to get it off properly. To stand within three feet of a Texas cowboy girl rebel-yelling is worse than having an attack of double malarialitis and inflammation of the middle ear.

There is some doubt down here running for county judge or first assistant of the department of felicity or something and he has a lot of admirers. Until 8 a. m. today they were giving yells in the Rice Hotel lobby for their man. There's not a chandler in the place that isn't ready today to fall off its perch as a result.

How the Union army ever won the war with this rebel yell floating around is beyond me.

Possibly the Confederate forces suffered laryngitis to a man.

Just one more yell and here's a damned Yankee who will be ready to flee North to a more soothing locale where quaking broken on automobiles and the pulp-pulp of citizens machine-gunning one another to death are all the break the claim.

I'm getting that way myself. EEEEEEE—Yow!

Demand Democrats Pledge U. S. "Best Navy in World"

Houston, June 27 (UPI)—Demand for a strong declaration in favor of an American navy equal to the best in the world was served upon Democratic chiefs today by John T. Taylor, legislative representative of the American Legion.

"We want the 5-3 ratio of the Washington treaty maintained, and we are far below it now," said Taylor.

FIRST CONVENTION OF HALLOWEEN "P.R. DE" OF CLEERING FARMERS

ROUSED TO FRENZY BY BOWERS' 'KEY NOTE,' SAYS REPUBLICAN

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyright, 1923, by Universal News, Inc.)

Houston, June 27.—In the process of Al Smithing, the Democrats have got as far as an organization and a fine big "howling out" of the wicked Republicans.

Claude G. Bowers of New York was Indiana, the new temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention and the lead man in the matter of organizing, called the first public session everything you see in the presence of ladies.

When Bowers, a detestable looking little man of great ferocity, got to talking about front farmers, with millions of dollars in the bank, the Democrats looked right over and started a tremendous riot that covered forty ten minutes of wailing and yelling, with the delegates from the farmer states leading the wailing.

When you finish the remarks, Bowers really didn't commit any body to anything in particular, but they were at least a little bit of the fiery-handed trial of the soil, which is more than he got in Kansas City.

Not much from Bowers about the war. In fact, nothing. It is even reliable that he forgot to mention it. He had to much to remember. He made a smashing, old-fashioned aristocrat knock-down-and-drag-out speech.

PLATFORM FOR FARMERS
Then the ways were cleared for the launching of the Democracy's ship of state, 1923 model, with Al Smith at the helm, as they say, and maybe Joe Robinson of Arkansas on the pontoon—a committee organized and all that sort of thing.

Our old pal, Japs Plive, of baseball infamy, too, a hand in the Democratic gathering after the revolt.

Along toward evening, as we say on the ranch, there came on a terrific thunderstorm.

A rain fell on the just and the unjust assuming that there may be a few unjust Democrats. The lightning squall across the sky in piercing places. The strike served to develop certain inadequacies in Jesse Jones' meeting house on the banks of the San Antonio.

The galleries were but sparsely occupied when the evening session opened. Probably the citizens of Houston remained home to enjoy the rain. One of the hands hit me that good old Plive's little time that runs, "Fight, Fight, For Every

One-Eye Connelly Crashes in Texas But Not the Gate

St. Houston Hall, Houston, Tex., June 27 (1923).—"One-Eye" Connelly, the famous gate crasher, who claims to have crashed Buckingham palace once, met his Waterloo today.

Two husky longhorn policemen, one of whom was a "One-Eye" himself, as a pop vendor just as the convention opened this morning.

They took him by the coat collar and the trousers and threw him far and wide from the convention door with an appropriate warning not to try it again.

"You may have crashed some places," they told him, "but this is Texas, man."

ANY T PLANK OPPOSED BY ROBINSON

He has been going backward since Wilson's administration ended. Never before has there existed such a condition of the policies of the Republican party.

"Why should farmers be compelled to sell their products in the open market of the world and to buy from trusts and monopolies which arbitrarily fix the prices of their commodities—an unjust and oppressive system made possible by excessive tariff duties?"

FARMERS AROUSED.
The importance of this fact is emphasized by the repeated refusal of the Republican party to grant substantial relief. The farmers of the nation are awake to the issue.

They are ready, if afforded the opportunity, to safeguard their own interest through political action.

"The Republican party has betrayed the farmers of the United States and now seeks again to deceive them with false promises."

"The only specific measure for farm relief pledged by the Kansas City platform, increased tariff duties which experience shows cannot be effective."

"Mr. Bowers, in his notable address to the convention, has described the corruption which has disgraced the present and preceding administrations."

"Under President Wilson our party admitted the nation's affairs and expended more than $20,000,000,000 in the war."

"We kept the record clean. Not an instance of official dishonesty or corruption was proven."

"Immediately following the return of the Republican party to power, the United States government took control of the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Land Management."

FARMERS SCORE PLATFORM BATTLE

Houston, Tex., June 27 (AP)—Farming adds prohibition temporarily, friends of organized agriculture were a brief but sharp skirmish today before the resolutions committee for representation on the subcommittee which is to craft the 1923 national Democratic platform.

John A. Simpson, Oklahoma member, urged that Thomas E. Chasman, the representative from Minnesota, who is head of a farm organization, be among the 111 men drafting the platform. When Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, the chairman, failed to include Chasman, Simpson moved Chasman's appointment. Senator Glass of Virginia countered with a point of order against the motion, saying if the committee tried to give representation to all of the industries, the platform it would be quarrelling over the personnel for a better part of the day.

THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE.
F. J. Thomas of Nebraska reminded the committee that the farmers and been elected from the committee of the Republican party at the Kansas City Convention.

"We must consider that agriculture will be the paramount issue in this campaign," Thomas added, "and the farm organization should be represented on this drafting committee."

Characterizing the Glass move as "simply a parliamentary trick," Simpson declared the subcommittee of the Republican party at the Kansas City Convention.

"The most important body of the convention since it would actually draft the declaration upon which the party would act for a grant of power from the American Electorate."

CASHMAN WINS.
Senator Chapman of Arkansas, an ardent supporter of the McNary-Haagen farm relief bill, interrupted to suggest that Simpson ask unanimous consent that Chasman be added to the committee. That consent was obtained.

Leaders of the dry in the convention including Josephine Daniels, North Carolina publisher, Governor Moody and Senator Glass, were on hand with a prohibition plank for which they were determined to win the vote of a vigorous fight of which they are capable.

But the dry plank will present the dry plank approved by their sub-committee to adopt the essential parts of each declaration. Should they fail to have the 1923 amendment endorsed and the party pledged to "enforce" enforcement, they plan to carry their fight to the convention floor.

HUNT FOR KIN OF WARREN AUTO VICTIM FAILS

Efforts to find kin of Miss Margaret Duches, the governor for whose death in an automobile accident Francis Edgar Stanley Warren of the Back Bay was tried and acquitted, have failed, it was announced today. Announcement of this effect was made by J. C. Joseph Plamand, French consul here, upon his return from a trip to France. He said he sought the relatives at request of Judge Frank Leventhal of the juvenile court, who, it was learned, had been appointed guardian ad litem of Miss Duches' estate.

COURTNEY HAS TO TURN BACK ON WAY TO U. S.

Lisbon, Portugal, June 27 (AP)—A wireless message today said Capt. Frank T. Courtney, who hoped off from Lisbon today for the Azores en route to the United States, was returning. An accident to the water tube of his seaplane forced him to turn back.

Capt. Courtney, who made an unsuccessful attempt to fly the Atlantic last year, arrived here June 2 after a 121-mile flight from Pisa, Italy. After he reached the Azores, which are approximately 1400 miles from Lisbon, he will make a flight of about 2000 miles over the Atlantic to Halifax and then head for New York.

In his attempt last September Capt. Courtney took off from Plymouth, England, and landed near Corunna, Spain. He was delayed there for a long time by bad weather and finally abandoned the flight.

Two Kings a-Hunting Go Stockholm, June 27 (AP)—King Alfonso, polo player, and the king for Giuseppe Primo De Rivera, are coming in the fall to meet with King Gustav, tennis player.

FEARS KILLED WHEN ITALIA WAS BURNED

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 27 (AP)—Fear that six men, who drifted away in the balloon part of the Italia, after its crash on the polar ice cap, were dead prevailed today when it was learned that the airship had caught fire.

Of 15 men who left aboard the dirigible for the North Pole on May 21 only six were known to be alive today. One man was killed in the crash and three others have been missing since they started ashore for land.

Gen. Umberto Nobile said that soon after the dirigible crashed on May 25 the balloon part with six men aboard drifted to the east and a small column of smoke was seen rising from it after it had gone about six miles. Nothing has been heard of the six men.

SHIP TAKEN FIRE

Vincenzo Pometti, motor attendant, was in the stern gondola when the Italia crashed. The gondola was ripped off in striking the ice, crushing Pometti, and during the ensuing conflagration he died.

Among the debris on the ice they found all the instruments and later the body of Pometti was discovered and buried in the ice.

In the meantime the balloon part of the Italia was drifting to the east, having been freed of the weight of the gondola and part of the burning. When it had gone about 10 kilometers a small column of smoke was seen rising from it. Nobile thought that either a man, an oil tank had caught fire, the balloon crashed on the ice with its six occupants.

DISAPPEAR FROM SIGHT

These were Lieut. Rittore Arduino, Italian navy navigator; Prof. Aldo Pontremoli, Italian scientist; Dr. Ugo Lajo, correspondent of the Milan newspaper Popolo d'Italia; Milanese Almondi, aviator; assistant; Arturo Garatti, motor attendant; and Carlo Caccia, motor attendant.

The radio apparatus was rescued from the debris of the gondola wrecked with the Nobile party inside. Its receiving set functioned, but apparatus was damaged. For five days the chattering struggled to repair it. Finally three members of the party, Dr. Malmgren and Capt. Mariano and Zappi, started ashore for land on May 20.

They were to direct rescue parties to the six men left behind on the ice. They had food enough for more than 40 days and also possessed instruments and maps to help them to make their way over the Arctic wastes.

FIND HUB MAN ROBT. MANTELL, DEAD IN N. Y.

47, is DEAD

The body of a man identified from papers in his pockets as Robert Mantell, Boston real estate man, was found beneath the tracks of the Interborough Rapid Transit subway in New York near the Times 35 station.

A membership card in the Boston Lodge of Elks resided in the identification. The Boston address given was 59 Weller ave., but at that address it was learned that Mantell, who was married and had a 15-year-old daughter, had recently moved with his family to a Huntington ave. apartment.

When the body was removed from the subway tracks doctors said the skull was crushed, and it is believed by the police that the man was struck by a train as he leaned over the edge of the platform and was knocked to the tracks.

AVANCEE VICTIM IS BURIED UNDER SLIDE

New Haven, Conn., June 27 (AP)—The body of Edmund Trumble, 35, who with Cecil Rice, 39, was buried beneath thousands of tons of rock yesterday in a landslide at the foot of the sleeping giant, part of a chain of high rocks that surround this city, was still held prisoner to-day. Rice's body was recovered near the top of the huge pile which resulted from the slide. Both men were employed by the Connecticut Quarries Company and were working on the floor of the quarry when an avalanche of rocks descended on them.

FREE EL JAH IN ENWRIGHT CASE

El Jah and Fred Dutton, chauffeur for Enwright, were jointly accused by the publisher of taking him to a cottage in Nahant last January and demanding $25,000, accompanying their demands with threats of death.

Dutton pleaded guilty to the kidnapping charge just before El Jah's trial started. The trial lasted ten days.

El Jah testified in his own defense, declaring Enwright tried to get him to "take a kidnapping for publicity purposes, but that he refused. Enwright was not in court when the verdict was read.

THIRTY TREES TORN UP IN CONNECTICUT STORM

Colebrook, Conn., June 27 (AP)—In one of the worst wind storms this town has ever experienced, 30 large trees were snapped nearly to the top, while still others as large as pebbles threatened to break every window in the community.

All the trees torn up by the wind were in one section of the town. The wind cut a path a quarter of a mile wide through the trees for a distance of several hundred yards.

CONTINUE AUTO CASE OF EX-POLICE CHIEF

The case of former Chief of Police Walter Crocker of Holbrook, charged with drunkenness and operating an auto while under the influence of liquor was continued to July 13 in Quincy court today. The reason for the continuance was that Diet-A-Ly. Wilbur was unable to attend this session.

IDEAL WEATHER ADDS TO JOYS OF BRIDES

A June day that seemed to be made to order smiled upon June brides in three notable weddings in Greater Boston today.

In St. Mark's Church, West Medford, before 250 relatives and friends, Miss Agatha Wells Quinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Quinn, became the bride of Myles T. Mcweeney, assistant sports editor of the Boston Evening American.

Both bride and bridegroom are residents of Harvard ave., West Medford. Mcweeney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Mcweeney.

Charles F. Glendon, pastor of St. Raphael's, celebrated the nuptial mass, while the wedding ceremony was read by Rev. Patrick J. Lyons, chaplain of Christ Hospital, and Rev. John J. Quinn, pastor of St. Raphael's.

Miss Quinn was a beautiful bride in white duchesse satin trimmed with tulle and a simple veil with white band. She wore a garniture of pearls and an emerald and diamond necklace that was the gift of her husband.

She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and baby's breath.

Veronica L. Quinn, her sister, was the bridesmaid, while Richard L. Mcweeney, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Ushers were E. Graham Quinn and Reed Chasney. Mrs. William J. Quinn was organist and the soloist was Thomas J. Brennan.

Following the service a wedding breakfast and reception were given at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride is one of the most charming and popular of the city's younger set. She was recently received her degree from Boston College in 1925 and has been associated with the Boston Evening American for several years.

Following a honeymoon in Canada the couple will reside in Medford.

Two nuptial masses were celebrated in St. Mark's Church, Dorchester. At the first Miss Helen G. Rooney, daughter of John J. Rooney, became the bride of Joseph E. Papp, who was a professional baseball player. A reception and breakfast at the Hotel Westminister followed.

In the same church, by Rev. John Laet of Canton, a ceremony in 1921 at Boston College of the bridegroom, Miss Madeline McKeough was wed to Edward Brown, assistant principal of the Levi Warner Junior High School, Newton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonough of Medford.

A reception at Hotel Westminister followed.

The marriage of Frederick L. Quinn and Miss Helen McKeough took place at St. Mark's Church, Dorchester, today. The Rev. Charles O'Connor, officiating. Joseph Quinn, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the bridesmaid was Alice Nichols, sister of the bride.

Another social leader chooses Old Gold...when Mrs. Sidney Borg makes the Blindfold test

"The charitable activities in which I am engaged make it necessary for me to meet with women at all kinds of functions. I am often invited to smoke, but I smoke so little that my throat protests immediately unless the cigarette is very mild. So it was with particular delight that I discovered OLD GOLD in the blindfold test. I chose it at once... and from now on it will be my exclusive favorite."

MRS. SIDNEY BORG... actively known for her good and charitable activities... chairman of the women's division, Federated Jewish Charities... chairman of the Jewish Big Sister.

What is this quality that tells... even in the dark?

OLD GOLD'S heavy-like smoothness... that's the test of it. But this cool and fragrant charm can be taken only from the heavy-leaves of the tobacco plant.

No heavy, coarse top-leaves... no withered green-leaves. That's why OLD GOLD'S are different... better... why you can pick them with your eyes closed.

The Youthful Moses Williams of Harvard Ships as Deck-hand Aboard the Yacht of Columbus Iselin

"HO, FOR THE BOUNDING BILLOW AND A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE," SAYS young Moses Williams, Harvard youth, with a yearning for life before the mast in real Richard Henry Dana fashion, he sets sail as a deck hand with that choice set of adventurous spirits captained by Columbus Iselin aboard the Iselin yacht. I believe the Iselin yacht and the hand-picked Iselin crew have already sailed away from New Rochelle for a summer of scientific research.

IT'S NOT AT ALL A PRIVOLOUS SUMMER MR. ISELIN PLANS FOR HIMSELF AND his shipmates. Far from it. Mr. Iselin's career at Harvard, while made velvety smooth socially as are the collegiate passages of youth full plotoaters with important family background, tended more to coldly scientific phases than to the usual undergraduate merry-making. Mr. Iselin heads first overseas toward the Azores. Well-laid plans will bring all hands back this way along toward September, each with a deep sea tan and an enviable experience to his credit.

GEORGE G. GREENER is another well-known Bostonian advertising overseas. The regular summer schedule, however, prevails for Mr. Greener, who goes in search of treasures to be procured on land, rather than those the sea may yield up. Mr. Greener, with an eye to next winter's financial fortunes of the North Boston Street Industrial School, shops about for furniture, tapestries, decorations and all the what not put on sale each season.

STRENUOUS DAYS ARE ahead of Mr. Greener searching hither and yon for choicest articles; trying with this and that person in tiny hamlets and remote villages who have been industriously scouring the country side for things to meet the Greener standard. It's a romantic quest he goes on, even with its prosaic element of dollars and cents, francs, pesetas, shillings and lire. Bartering for antiques is fascinating in itself. Mr. Greener, connoisseur, can barter keenly when his school is to benefit.

A LAWRENCE OF BOSTON may be rowing for American honor and prestige at Amsterdam this summer. And a doting maternal parent and enthusiastic sister may be on hand to spur him on. These possibilities hinge on whether or not James Lawrence, Jr., earns a place in an American shell and so goes abroad to wear the U. S. shield with his American crew mates. He's down on the Schuykill now undergoing some rigorous elimination tests. I believe he's at the Harvard Junior varsity, so he's no novice with the fishing ears.

MR. JAMES LAWRENCE, mother of the collegiate sportsman, and Miss Dorothy Lawrence, his sister, are already on the bonding main.

They sailed several days ago and, of course, would be on hand to see Mr. Lawrence, Jr., row, should aforementioned possibilities eventuate into actualities. Mrs. and Miss Lawrence are of the town's social Olympians now making a final trip—very auspicious has its fashionable complement from Boston aboard. These two sailed some few days ago.

SPEAKING OF HARVARD's sportsman, William Saltonstall, Harvard varsity crew man and a marshal for Class Day, today fulfills a role of quite another sort. He is best man for the nuptials of Miss Barbara Stone and John Pierce Chase and thus supports a Harvard classmate in those trying moments before the altar. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gale Stone and the late Mr. Stone, and ceremonial promises are given in the First Parish, Brookline, this afternoon.

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST F. LOVEJOY of West Newton are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise Lovejoy, to Frank lin Thorndike Kurt. The fiancée took her degree from Shillmore College last year, and Mr. Kurt progressed through junior schools to Wellesley University, and thence to M. I. T., graduating from that well known institution of scientific learning in 1927.

A VERY DECIDED TREND toward the newest means of locomotion, that of flying, has Mr. Kurt. He was a co-designer and engineer of the new England made airplane, the Kitty Hawk. He belongs to aeronautical societies, and has a commission in the Naval Reserves. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kurt of West Newton, who have a well-shore home down on the coast of Maine in Eggemoggin Ranch, the Penobscot section of that charming playground.

FACT Story of the German Submarines From Secret Records

By JOHN KNOX
CHAPTER TWO

WE will continue with the terse but dramatic report of Lieutenant Adams.

Got fix again and ordered S.C. 251 to attack. She did so at five o'clock. (Editor's note: A "fix" as explained in the previous chapter is the location of a submarine beneath the waves as determined by listening devices—an American invention—on subchasers.)

S.C. 251 sent S.C. 99 and S.C. 160 to Penzance for more depth charges. Sent radio to base for further charges. S.C. 251 with Unit 2. Awaiting further charges for emergency and prepared to keep in contact with submarines until charges arrived or until she came to the surface. Dropped water buoy with 30 fathoms cable within 25 yards of submarine. Hung lantern on it and ordered boats to take positions respectively north, south, east and west 200 yards away from buoy and maintain position during fight.

Subsequent events show that submarine never moved from this spot. Awaiting further charges for emergency and prepared to keep in contact with submarines until charges arrived or until she came to the surface. Dropped water buoy with 30 fathoms cable within 25 yards of submarine. Hung lantern on it and ordered boats to take positions respectively north, south, east and west 200 yards away from buoy and maintain position during fight.

At 3:30 British torpedo boat destroyer "HMS" arrived in answer to our radio. Told him to stand by with engines quiet and no lights. At 3:40 a.m. light on buoy went out. First submarine moved and tried to pick up buoy with anchor chain. But was unsuccessful.

At dawn boats were scattered. Ordered all chasers to look for buoy and report. At 4:15 a.m. searched for buoy and S.C. 251 picked it up at 4:20 a.m. and returned with depth charges. Told them to stand by for daylight.

WASHBURN TAKES RAP AT YOUNG

With a statement denouncing B. Loring Young, former Speaker of the House, as a "chameleon," a "paid lobbyist" and "a stranger to consistent loyalty," Robert M. Washburn, president of the Massachusetts Automobile Association, today denounced the nomination for United States senator of Loring Young, a former Speaker of the House, as a "chameleon," a "paid lobbyist" and "a stranger to consistent loyalty."

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Farrell, photographed immediately after their wedding in St. Mary's Church, Dorchester, today. The bride was Miss Helen G. Rooney, daughter of Police Capt. John J. Rooney. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the Hotel Westminster.

TEES OFF IN FOUR MORE PLANE 1000 FEET UP VICTIMS MAY DIE

Tim Cere, 23, and Joseph C. Cere, 21, and seven other victims of a crash of a biplane at the Franklin Park airport, today were being taken to the hospital. The crash occurred at 10:15 a.m. when the biplane, piloted by Tim Cere, was in the air at an altitude of 1000 feet. The plane crashed into a building, causing a fire. The victims were taken to the hospital in ambulances. The cause of the crash is being investigated.

NOTED AGGRESSOR OBTAINS $1 INSURANCE

The insurance department of the Boston Evening American had an interesting visitor, Clara Kim Young, who "lives with the 'Stomach' crowd" at 100 Washington street, Boston, this week.

"I wanted the Boston Evening American accident insurance policy as soon as I heard of it," said Miss Young. "You know this is one of the first offers I have heard of."

"The first" she was answered "more than 1000 a day are being taken out."

"The number is not large," she said. "I am a policyholder without a medical examination," she said. "I am a policyholder without a medical examination."

"I have applied for many different policies and this is the first I've heard of that will insure anyone regardless of occupation."

Mello Retains Title in Great Battle With Murphy

CHAMPION HAS CLOSE CALL

with sharp, rippling punches. The third frame was even. Murphy had the best of the fighting while Mello was the aggressor and excelled at long range.

The fourth round was Murphy's while Mello battered his way out of the ring. In the fifth and sixth sessions, the rivals swapped blows with reckless abandon and the big crowd was in a fever for Mello had the edge.

MURPHY made his first big fight in the fourth round. He kept boxing at a terrific clip and had a great margin on Mello. In the eighth frame, Murphy timed his most vital and at times made the champion look a little shaky in the eighth round.

Mello forced the action in the ninth round and kept Mello's hands busy. A single blow landed in the corner. It was Mello's hand.

At the end of the fight, Murphy was the victor. At one time during the fight, Murphy landed a good water punch on Mello's head and it took a few seconds for Mello to get up.

In the semi-final, which went on after the main event, "The Possessive" of Dan Healy, who had been defeated by Dan Healy in a previous fight, was defeated by Dan Healy.

Cards Likely to Win Pennant Says Rogers

DEAR LOU—Begins to look as if you Yanks would have to trail out to St. Louis again for the World Series.

The Cardinals have a real ball club, and if they pick up just a little more hustle they will catch them in an almost impossible job in the National League.

There was some talk in the early days that Alex was through, but you may have noticed that he was a game little while ago that was held up in the sixth by a run and went in the next after noon, finished up another and won that too.

A few pitchers who were a price that may sound good on my list, I don't mind saying just now I am doing a lot of sitting and waiting because, after two months of baseball the team doesn't seem to be going anywhere.

Champ Chooses to Relax in Solitudes

By GENE TUNNEY
Heavyweight Champion of the World
Speculator, N. Y. June 27.—Solving the greatest problem a mer has to contend with, the necessity for proper relaxation during the training season, caused me a great deal of trouble.

Some athletes, after the day's work is over, find complete rest and physical relaxation in no other form. I, on the other hand, find entertainment, and I've found the way out of my own mind, a stream of training sessions.

Dejected! Blue! Just chasing rainbows! Bad Luck! A hundred different emotions seized him! Always seemed to "almost get there," but never convinced! Success just failing to arrive—year after year. Great fellow; hard worker; honest. But careless beyond belief. His careless (garterless) fallen socks are an excellent example of his "What do I care?" attitude. OVERCOMING FEAR

BY CONSTANCE CAMERON.

"WELL, you'll just go upstairs and go to bed anyway," replied a mother to her small girl's cry of: "I'm afraid in the dark." "It's all foolishness to act like that and you'll just have to get over it!" The mother knew, of course, that there were no terrible creatures awaiting in the dark corners to dart out and hurt her child, but no child in the world is quite sure of this until he has been taught that the dark is harmless.

Parents generally feel that it is a fear, for which there is no explanation. But I remember a few years ago, when I stood on the sidewalk, one in a huge crowd of people who were on their way to work in a nearby store, and watched the dark disappear finally, save for a dim ring of light. I'll venture to say that there was no person in that crowd who would have admitted that he was afraid of the dark, nor that he wasn't sure that the sun's light would be visible again shortly. But, when the sun began to appear again after his short eclipse, there was a burst of triumphant, reassured smiling, by grown men and women, like a great, sudden, loud splash of relief. Had they been quite sure that the sun would re- turn, or was there an unconscious fear that the cold darkness might remain with us? Didn't we hark back, in that moment, to the state of mind of our primitive ancestors, who did not feel sure that when the sun went down it would come up again?

In all of us remains that rare memory of darker coming with darkness. Our ancestors gathered around their fires at night, because the fires scared away the savage animals which prowled about. Our mature logic tells us that we are now safeguarded at night, but a child's mind, used at sunset, slides easily away from reasoning and reverts to instinct. Instinct which makes him feel that safety lies where many people are, and where there is light.

Show your child the stars and moon, on a beautiful clear night. Make him know that night is full of many delightful sights which we cannot enjoy in the daytime and full of gay little chirpings which we do not hear when it is light. If you tell your child a simple story at bedtime, and I hope you do, send him on your lap be- fore a window.

Have no lights in the room, but let his eyes take in the beauty of the stars and moonlight. And tell him that the stars and moon tell him that he is not alone in the darkness. And tell a story which is not exciting, one which points out, mother love and the care which Nature gives and the care which Nature gives and the care which Nature gives.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

WHEN a girl returns to marry a man, his sorrow is always witnessed by the thought that she will never get another chance quite as good.

Early up, this being the day I am resolved to go from hotel to hotel and sit in the grating davengrains and the case chairs, and search the cushions, to see whether I have lost any money this time, but no. And in the first hotel the name of which I have

There are only two sorts of women who can live happily with any man. The one who knows men through and through and cannot be fooled—and the one who doesn't reach the cushions, to see whether I have lost any money this time, but no. And in the first hotel the name of which I have Allice Longworth's marriage license sold for $12, think what a price one of those Hopkins Joyce's old divorce decrees would bring!

Next to jail and debt, the things that a man struggles hardest to avoid are divorce, marriage and his evening clothes.

Oh, you were ever light and vain, and you were never true— And loving you was always pain, As every woman knows!

But I had scarcely cared a whit That I had been so fond, For my successor had not been A feeble-minded blunder!

Funny how a man's religion will help him through all the great vicissitudes of life—and then so right back on him when he can't buy a little gold ball or make a radio be- have.

Feminism: Insisting that a man do as all of us men happen?

Madame—Heaven! What did you do to all of us men happen? Gardener—Madame, I just gave you that, my beautiful rose.

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

Madame—Heaven! What did you do to all of us men happen? Gardener—Madame, I just gave you that, my beautiful rose.
